Biography

„I'm a french 20 year old producer living near from Paris.

I started making beats in late 2006, and had my first contact with a label in early 2009. In September of that year I released my "Taking Life" EP and signed to Culture Assault Records. In 2010, I released a multitude of EP's namely: the "Lips & Perfume EP" on Pavillon36 Recordings, "Horrors in the Background EP" on Black Hoe Recordings, the "Enter the Game EP" on Ex Machina Recordings and a track on Gamma Audio.

Also, there is another EP and possibly some new material coming out on Black Hoe Alimony this year along with some other releases that should be announced in a near future.

I have a very wide range of taste in music, depending on my mood and my current life experience. From classical music to dark ambient, I spend a lot of time enjoying drum'n bass and dubstep as well, and you can hear these different influences in my music. As I hate being limited to a specific style and being classified as dnb-dubstep producer, I might add that I make music that is for me an experiment, corresponding to what i want to express, and not to dancers frenzy, people enjoying standards or others unable to have pleasure listening to something they are not used to.

As I started to gain enough knowledge to build something listenable, I looked for a signature sound that could direct me to a more personal level in the musical scene. As my thoughts were heading in that direction, production had to be heading a very dark and strong spirit. Sometimes having a break with silkier elements, sometimes going deeper and deeper.

If my music can be said random and unmixable, I must say this is absolutely not my goal, and that listeners will have to see the meanings in what they hear, rather than only feeling a beat to wash their brain into."
